

League ready to roll

The league will provide an ideal opportunity for Etihad Airways and its associates and participants to spread their wings while enjoying the game of golf.

The Etihad Airways Corporate League tees off at City Golf on March 21 in what will be the first in this country. No fewer than 48 company teams, each comprising two golfers, will engage in six months' competition.

One tournament will take place each month between March and August, where company golfers will pit their skills against rival firms in an effort to be crowned league champions and with Etihad Airways returning to its destination in Europe.

Contestants will tra the world's most exci tions on City Golf's an golf simulators. Kicki England, the league w Frankfurt in Germany in Australia, Pebble Be Phoenix Golf Club in J ing down at the home Old Course in Scotlan

To celebrate the gic League, each leg will l ing to the particular o some shrimps on the Melbourne and some pipes at the Old Cours

According to Adam Etihad Airways Coun Malaysia, the League opportunity for the a important demograp

"We believe the opy competitive golf over on the world's best co working with simila men and women in a conditioned environn: for a successful tourna

"There is no other g Malaysia quite like thi forward to growing it

Indoor corporate league takes off in March

THE Etihad Airways Corporate League will tee off at the City Golf in Kuala Lumpur on March 21.

The league will see 48 teams, each comprising two members, face off in a six-month long competition in Malaysia's first indoor corporate golf league.

One tournament will take place each month between March and August, where golfers will pit their skills against rival teams in an effort to be crowned league champions. The champions will win four Etihad Airways return tickets to any destination in Europe.

Etihad Airways country manager for Malaysia Adam Philips said the corporate league provided an ideal opportunity for them to reach an important demographic.

"We believe the opportunity to play competitive golf over a two-hour period on the world's best courses, while networking with similar minded businessmen in a comfortable air-conditioned environment, is the recipe for a very successful tournament.

There is no other golfing event in Malaysia quite like this and we are looking forward to growing it with City Golf and the League partners over the next six months and beyond," said Philips.

Teams will compete in a Ryder Cup style format which sees the two participants play alternate shot style over nine holes, with handicaps taken into consideration. Each company's four best nett scores out of the six months will count towards the overall league standing, allowing each team to miss two events and still be able to participate.

Entry fee is RM1,200 per team. For teams signing up before March 5, it is RM900. For more information log on to www.citygolf.com.my or call 03-22820011.

Great for networking: Philips (second from right) with members of the organising committee and sponsors at the launch.